COUNTY SEAT NEWS.

The rural school graduating exercises held here last Saturday under the supervision of County Superintendent John Carter was a decided success. There was a class of 111 graduates, an increase of about 15 over last year. There was a very large attendance of pupils and patrons from all parts of the county.

The proposition is being considered to establish an electric light and ice plant here. We hope it will develop into a reality and will be given the hearty support of all our citizens.

Grandma Richardson, who has been very sick for the past week, is reported improving.

James Cottengim, the stock man from Norwood, was in the city Saturday.

MACOMB

We are having fine weather after such a severe snow storm.

Farmers are getting busy finishing sowing oats and plowing for corn.

Arthur Short is digging a cistern at his new residence.

John Newberry was elected school director for three years; the school board now consists of J. B. Findley, W. H. Brake, John Newberry and W. H. Royal, district clerk.

Harrison Babb and Eugene Doyel are baling hay for G. E. Short this week.

The fifth Sunday meeting at Macomb was a success in every way, with a large attendance. Subjects were discussed with much interest. The preaching was of the best. The meeting closed with an old fashioned hand shake and a $10.50 collection for district mission work.

Just watch Macomb and see if we don't do something all the time.

Orean J. Findley and Miss Anise Gass, both of Macomb, were married last Sunday at S. H. Robertson's.

A brand new restaurant at Macomb, with John Garner as proprietor.

It is reported Macomb is to have a butcher shop.

Mr. Smith moved the foundation of his shop from just east of the railroad crossing just south of Jesse Baker's mill and north of W. H. Breake's poultry pen, so meal and meat will both be handy.

OCTOBER 2, 3, 4

The above are the dates decided upon at the meeting of the Young Men's Business Club Tuesday evening as the dates for Mansfield's second annual carnival and stock show. At the next meeting of the club April 15 further steps will be taken in the matter, but get busy now and prepare to make this event one long to be remembered.

In the absence of the president and vice-president the meeting of the club was presided over by C. A. Stephens. The resignation of Dr. F. H. Riley as president was laid over, until the next meeting. Dr. Riley has made a most excellent presiding officer and while, as he stated in his letter of resignation, he feels that some one else should now fill the place, the members of the club do not think so. The doctor has made good in so large a degree that the club is unwilling to accept his resignation and we hope Dr. Riley will reconsider the matter and remain at the head of this organization. His go-ahead proclivities render him peculiarly qualified for the place and his unanimous reelection and the evident desire of all of the members to have him retain the office prove that the club is in dead earnest in its desire to keep him as president. The doctor has always worked untiringly—early and late—for the advancement of the club and the city—and he is certainly the right man for president of the Young Men's Business Club. A better booster than the doctor is hard to find.

W. C. Coday, the capable secretary—treasurer, who had tendered his resignation, yielded to the wishes of the club and stated that if the members really wanted him to remain in office he would do so. Upon being assured in no uncertain manner that such was the case he accepted the place for the ensuing year.

The question of good roads came in for considerable discussion and we hope something definite will be accomplished along this line. As we have previously stated, we think a bond issue is the proper thing.

The park improvement committee is to make their report at the next meeting and it is hoped that this matter will be pushed to a speedy completion.

Several other items for the good and advancement of Mansfield were also discussed.

Watch Mansfield grow. It is growing and will so continue.

Join the Young Men's Business Club and boost for Mansfield.

WON SUIT

At West Plains this week O. L. Robinett of the Mansfield Produce Co., won his attachment suit for $650 against Cashier J. B. Thomas and the Bank of Willow Springs. This suit was an outcome of the failure of the Daniel Commission Co. Allen & Craig were Mr. Robinett's attorney and N. J. Crag was at West Plains this week on account of the trial of the case.
